NUMERIC MYOPIA

*We do not see things the way they are.
We see things the way we are.*
~ Saint Charan Singh

For now we see through a glass, darkly...
~ Bible: 1st Corinthians 13:12

*The World is blind, engulfed in utter darkness
but to whom can I explain this?*
~ Saint Kabir

Numeric myopia! What in the world is that? Numeric myopia is a King's Numerology term for the intrinsic short-sightedness we all possess because of our numbers. As we can see from the quotes above, each of us is limited in our vision. Saint Charan Singh, the Bible and Saint Kabir espouse a universal truth, a truth that our spiritual, intellectual, philosophical and ideological vision is extremely limited, extending from darkness to blindness - not a very wide range. In fact, and in consideration of the electromagnetic spectrum, our visual acuity is no greater than 1% of everything existing in the physical universe. In other words, 99% of what exists in the physical realm according to the EMS is visually unknown to us, making us virtually blind! This is not even to mention the spiritual realms above and beyond this physical plane which Saints, Mystics and Masters describe as indescribable, beyond the comprehension of the human intellect.

We've all most likely said at some point in our lives, "They just don't get it," or "He/She just doesn't get it." Right? Well, it's no wonder. Why? Because each of us sees things not the way they are but the way we are. In all truth, we only see what our numbers - the labels for our intrinsic energy frequencies - allow us to see or hear. Dogs, for example, can hear frequencies beyond our human capability. Science is discovering that many insects, birds, fish, amphibians, reptiles, and some mammals can see in ultraviolet. As humans, we cannot. Can you imagine all these creatures talking among themselves saying, "These humans just don't get it." We don't get it because we can't see it or hear it. And that's the exact point. Our own energies, described by our personal numbers, don't allow us the ability to "see it" as others "see it."

A simple scan of only our Basic Matrix energies proves this myopia to us. Consisting of eight major components: Lifepath, Expression, PE, Soul, Material Soul, Nature, Material Nature and Voids [The King's Book of Numerology, Volume I: Foundations & Fundamentals], this simple numeric structure describes, in part, what we can and cannot perceive. For example, let's take two people, one with a 4 Soul and the other with a 5 Soul. The Soul describes our most basic needs, wants, desires, motivations. A 4 Soul person seeks security, stability, roots and convention. For a 5 Soul person, security is not found in roots but movement. 5s love freedom. They seek adventure, not the mundane; detachment, not attachment. They are the most unconventional oriented people on the planet. In effect, 4 Soul and 5 Soul people see things totally differently. Their basic drives are completely opposite. The same can be said for 1 versus 2 Soul people or 7 versus 8 Soul people. These number sets are also intrinsically opposite. And the Soul is only one component, one layer, one veil of energy of the Basic Matrix, one part of the energy streams comprising our lives. Think of all the combinations of numbers, all the different layers or veils of energy each of us has to look through as we perceive life. It's really staggering when we think about it.

Furthermore, even if two people had the same single Soul number, say a 4, unless they shared the exact same root structure they, too, would see things differently. For example, let's say the 4 Soul of one person contains a root structure of 31 [3 + 1 = 4] and another 4 Soul person has a root structure of 58 [5 + 8 = 13 > 1 + 3 = 4]. Even though their 4 crowns [single number] are the same, their roots of 31 and 58 are entirely different, and so each of these 4 Soul individuals will see things differently. They may be in the same color field, so to speak, but their hues will be different. The 31-4 person will be motivated by artistic and self-expressive energies, perhaps graphic design, photography, sculpting, while the 58-13-4 person will be motivated by movement, social interaction, athleticism, a varied calendar of social activities. Yet, they are both 4s. See the dilemma? And these are people who share the same general energy. And so we see that not only can crowns be different and cause people to see differently, the root structures of crowns also create variety, nuances and differentiations. Furthermore, all of this occurs simultaneously throughout the entire Basic Matrix, thus creating a numeric myopia from person to person.

The Basic Matrix is a good indicator of the complex way each of us "sees" life but it's not the only indicator. The Nine Life Cycle Patterns offer a compelling gauge as well. These are thoroughly explained in The King's Book of Numerology II: Forecasting - Part I available at www.richardking.net/books.htm and at Amazon.com. These nine LCPs are: 1/1, 1/2, 1/3, 1/4, 1/5, 1/6, 1/7, 1/8 and 1/9. They are determined by the Expression [name number] of the individual.

For example, in a 1/1 Life Cycle Pattern or LCP, the influencing energy of the 1 mixes with a 9 Expression person to create a 1 outcome. In a 1/2 LCP, the energy of the 1 mixes with a 1 energy person to create a 2 outcome. In a 1/3 LCP, the energy of the 1 mixes with a 2 Expression person to create a 3 outcome and so forth. In the LCP the Expression, therefore, becomes a filter or funnel for the influencing energy which becomes altered as it passes through the Expression thus creating an outcome.

Life Cycle Pattern	1/1	1/2	1/3	1/4	1/5	1/6	1/7	1/8	1/9
Initiating Number	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
	+	+	+	+	+	+	+	+	+
Expression	9	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Filter
	=	=	=	=	=	=	=	=	=
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Life Cycle Pattern	1/1	1/2	1/3	1/4	1/5	1/6	1/7	1/8	1/9	Outcome

What the LCPs reveal to us is the way in which each of us perceives a general energy specific to our own Expression or Name number. In the above grid, the LCPs are listed at the top. The "1" energy in the next row references the energy pertaining to the self, ego, identity, independence, male/Yang issues, leaders, authority figures, action, aggression, and so forth. When this 1 energy, acting as the Incoming or Influence issue, mixes with each of the nine Expressions, the Outcome is different for each Expression, each person. For example, a 1 Expression person mixing with 1 energy creates a 2 Outcome involving others, relationship, Yin issues, teamwork, potential conflict. However, when the 1 Influencing energy mixes with a 2 Expression person, the Outcome energy field is 3, the vibration of communication, self-expression, art, joy, children, image, health, beauty, disease, etc. And so it goes for each of the other seven Expressions. And this chart only addresses the 1 as the Influencing energy. We would follow the same process for the basic numbers 2 through 9, adding each of them as an influencing energy to each of the nine basic Expressions. This creates a total of 81 different number sets called I/R sets [Influence/Reality or Outcome] within the nine Life Cycle Patterns. Basically what this reveals is that each of us - because we are identified by a single number - only perceives 1/9th of what is occurring at any given time! The other 8 numbers have their individual perception as well. This LCP component contributes to our numeric myopia.

Managing Numeric Myopia

So the question arises, "How do we manage our short-sightedness?" Answer: by acknowledging we are quite limited in our "vision" and that we can't begin to perceive what others perceive or vice versa. We all see things the way we are, and it is virtually impossible to see things the way everyone else sees them or expect them to see things the way we see them. This should make us more understanding, more patient, more tolerant - all of which creates more harmonious, respectful, productive relationships.

For example, let's say you have a large amount of 8 energy in your chart, thus making you very good at managing, administrating, coordinating, orchestrating. If someone has little or no 8 energy in their chart, or if their 8 is in a Challenge position, they will not be able to do what you do or be as good as you are in the domain of getting things done and seeing them through from start to finish. Therefore, you can ease up on your expectations, be less demanding perhaps, less insisting, calmer. You can honor your abilities while not imposing them on others who have their own abilities.

No one at this level of existence is perfect. That does not mean we should not work toward perfection, we should, but perfection exists in higher planes of existence, which really do exist. But for now, we're here and being here means we have a limited perception of life. We need to accept this fact and work with it, not against it. As we evolve spiritually, our perceptions will become greater, just like it does when we climb a mountain and look down below. The higher we go, the more we know because the more we see below. As we "climb" higher, our limited vision, our myopia, will give way to greater vision. It's all a process. But while we're in the process, being aware that we don't see things the way they are, we see things the way we are, will help us stay more balanced, stable, centered, aware and, hopefully, tender-hearted. ~ finis
