

ONE MORE BROKEN HEART

Words & Music © 2001 by Richard Andrew King

From Rich's CD: Echoes from the Heart

Available at www.richardking.net/cds.htm, www.CDBaby.com

and many online digital distribution services.

Verse 1

When I first met you, your arrows pierced my heart,
And then, when I talked to you, I knew we shouldn't start,
And then when I hugged you, I knew we must part;
Here we go, one more time and one more broken heart.

Verse 2

Then when I'd see you, I'd get butterflies;
Hiding, even fighting, the tears in my eyes,
Never showing the lowing of my heart torn apart.
"Why Lord, why this heartache and one more broken heart?"

CHORUS

AND YOU WERE THE DREAMS, THE DREAMS I'D DREAM;
YOU WERE THE SONGS, THE SONGS I'D SING;
YOU WERE A PICTURE, A WORK OF ART;
YOU WERE THE REASON FOR ONE MORE BROKEN HEART.

Verse 3

Now, in this season where reason cannot go,
I must deny and never ever show
You my feelings, my thinkings of all that's in my heart,
But live with the weeping of one more broken heart.

CHORUS

Verse 4

Why, in this lifetime, of waiting for my lover,
I find the one who belongs to another one?
Why can't there be a single heart that's free,
A loving, lonely heart that's waiting for me?

CHORUS

CHORUS

Tag last line: YOU WERE THE REASON FOR MY LAST BROKEN HEART.